Hi, I'm Anna. Last week, my family and I traveled to Vietnam. We arrived in Hanoi on 13th September, just 2 days before the Mid-Autumn Festival or Tet Trung Thu. It also has a different name which is Children's Festival. Children enjoy this festival the most, but it also welcomes adults to have fun. There were many traditional performances on the streets. I watched lion dances. The local dancers dressed up in colorful costumes and gave an excellent performance. My family loved it. They even tried the dance with the dancers. We ate some special foods, but mooncake was the best. That night, the city was very lively as we heard many people cheering. However, it was a bit noisy. There were too many cars and motorbikes on the streets. We returned home early because we needed to return to my country early the next morning. My mother always gets angry if we wake up too late.
