We can now record and play music in new ways thanks to changing technology. Twenty years ago, we used to listen to music on CDs only. A few years later, more musicians went online with their laptops and we could download music and use MP3 players to listen. Now, almost everyone can use computers and search engines to look for their favourite songs. So, how will technology change the music industry in the future?

In the future, we'll regularly watch live virtual reality concerts from home. We'll put on our headset just before the concert starts and be ready to go. There might not be many virtual reality concerts at the moment. But, these concerts are likely to become very popular.

Musicians are always looking for new ways to connect with listeners of their music. New technology, known as a 'block chain', will allow musicians to share new songs directly with fans. This'll put an end to money loss through file sharing. Some artists are going to try out this technology soon.

Finally, we won't only listen to music made by humans. A machine can also learn how to write songs. Humans and machines will work together to make, hopefully, great music.

Of course, the great thing about the future is that none of us really knows what will happen. What we do know about the future is that, with all these incredible developments in technology, music's going to be exciting!

- C. popular
- D. boring

33. What is true about "block chain"?

- A. It'll make file sharing more convenient.
- B. It'll help musicians connect with their fans.
- C. It'll make musicians lose money.
- D. It is widely used now.

34. How does the author feel about the future of music?

- A. He is excited about the future of the industry.
- B. He is worried about the influence of technology on music.
- C. He is curious about new songs in the future
- D. He prefers the traditional ways of playing music.

35. What is the best title for the text?
