Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the following questions.

It seems difficult to see the true link between innovations and job opportunities. In practice, the connection can be quite strong. For example, with the introduction of virtual reality (VR), there is now high demand for professional engineers in the entertainment business. They are in charge of designing, developing and testing entertainment products.

The world of technology changes every day. This means that we can expect to have new job opportunities in every field. Podcasts are already popular, and everyone can be a producer. A podcast can be an audio or a video content that a producer uploads to social media using the internet. Newer technology will make it easier.

To keep listeners or audiences entertained, the content must be professional. This means the demand for skilled content writers and producers will go up.

Data scientists will be one of the keywords in job searches for companies or producers in the media industry.

To attract more audiences, they need to understand what their audiences expect so that they can produce more personalized content. To do that, a producer or company needs a lot of information on the audiences' interests. And that's what a data scientist is for.

However, it's important to note that new job opportunities also require new skills. It's best to learn the necessary skills so that you can keep up with these changes.
